1. What was my class usage last week?

Regularly monitoring student usage helps to identify students that may need extra support. View the Class Usage report by selecting the Usage tab in the upper left corner. From this view, you can see the Total Minutes and Units Gained from the past week (Monday to Sunday) for each student.

- ▶ Use the arrow next to the column headers to sort students by their Total Minutes or Units Gained.
- ▶ Students with a low number of minutes (e.g. fewer than 30 in a week) may need more opportunities to use the program.
- ▶ Students with high minutes but few units gained may benefit from previewing content and opportunities for additional practice.

What to do next:

For students who need usage, consider alternative settings (before or after school, at home) where students can use the program. For students with few units gained, preview or review Lessons associated with their Level to reinforce the language frames they are learning.

2. What is my class usage this year to date?

Switch the tab to This Year to see the Total Minutes, Weeks Used, Average Minutes per Week, and Units Gained for each student. These totals do not include the current week's usage.

- ▶ Use the arrow next to the headers to sort students by each column.
